Hi Malcolm

As explained i understand the procedure that is in place however providing the importation documentation with incorrect specs will not change the gvm of the vehicle as the importation documentation weights are not correct.

The manufactures specs are for a vehicle range and do not under any circumstances vary from chassis-chassis number as im sure you are aware vehicles are built from date ranges and this has all been supplied.

As you agreed on friday the legislation of qld transport which has been passed by the queensland government either through the court of queensland or through the senate allowing this to happen is not acceptable, and it is no more acceptable to say that this is the procedure from the legislation of qld transport to change the gvm of the vehicle so thats just how it is.

At some point someone needs to stand up and address the situation at hand.

I have provided you with the manufactures specifications for the vehicle in question, this is what i can do, it is up to you to as an employee of of the governing body to take it to someone who can change it and address the situation so it doesnt continue to happen. This is 1 series of vehicle and 1 addressing situation of weights/seats i am sure there is various other vehicles that have incorrect specs that affect its legality in more ways then one.

Regards Matt

Morning Matt,

The documentation that relates to this vehicle showing _____ displays a GVM of 2500kg. The documentation that you sent via email on Monday 20 February 2017 bears no identifying information that relates to this vehicle.

To alter the GVM as stated to you at our meeting on Friday 17 February 2017, you must produce either a document of import/export showing vehicle identifying VIN with a noted GVM or Manufacturer letter showing the same.

Hi Malcolm

As discussed here is attached the email stating that qld transport have adjusted the values in there system for this customer in relation to the in question vehicles weights/seating capacity. Attached the actual original manufactures specifications for the vehicles in question. The inaccurate specs given at the time of importation due to the legislation thats been put in place by the qld government allowing this sort of thing to happen is obviously not appropriate as you agreed friday. I understand that the systems in place within qld transport to adjust the values of a given vehicle may make this a complicated situation, however i dont see how that can be stand point in relation to not changing the inaccurate specs when the original manufactures specifications have been provided.

Let me know how you would like to proceed in relation to this matter.

Hi Phil,

Please see below original Nissan vehicle specifications on the elgrands of which their manufactured weights are 2690 GVM. We have had an issue with transport recently regarding seating of which the previous guy who complied has forward all this data below to outline the vehicle is legally manufactured as an 8 seater. The other day I took these papers to transport aswell as the de-reg cert as the car was flagged on their system. After discussing it with transport they actually adjusted the weights in the system to suit the manufacturers specifications. Can we please comply to suit the correct weights. Give me a call when you get a chance.

Cheers,

Hi [NR]

Further to your email regarding the 8 seater compliance of imported Nissan Elgrand I would like to confirm the following:

The heaviest Nissan Elgrand E51 variant has the GVM (Gross Weight) of 2690kg.

Attached is the Export Certificates showing the maximum Gross Weight.

Nissan Elgrand E51 models manufactured from 5/2002
to 08/2010:

Model Code	Variant	Build Date Range:	Drive
UA-E51	XL, X, VG, V, HIGHWAY STAR, RIDER	from 05/2002 to 08/2004	FR
UA-NE51	XL, X, VG, V, HIGHWAY STAR, RIDER	from 05/2002 to 08/2004	AWD
CBA-E51	XL, X, VG, V, HIGHWAY STAR, RIDER	from 08/2004 to 08/2010	FR
CBA-NE51	XL, X, VG, V, HIGHWAY STAR, RIDER	from 08/2004 to 08/2010	AWD

Calculations:

ORIGINAL JAPANESE VEHICLE:

Make and Model: Nissan Elgrand

Original Seating Capacity = 8

Original Unladen Mass "Weight on the Export Certificate" = 2060kg

Fuel Tank: 76lt

Petrol fuel density: 0.74kg/lt

76lt - 10lt = 66lt of fuel

66lt x 0.74kg/lt = 48kg

Tare Mass: 2060kg-48kg=2012kg

Maximum GVM: 2690kg

Maximum Seating Formula (as per QLD DoT):

GVM – TARE = 2690kg – 2012kg = 678kg (Load Capacity)

Number of Seats = 8 x (68kg + 13.5kg) = 8 x 81.5kg = 652kg (weight of 8 vehicle occupants + Luggage)

678kg > 652kg

LADEN VEHICLE MASS = 2012kg + (8 x 68kg) + (8 x 13.5kg) = 2012kg + 544kg + 108kg = 2664kg

GVM = 2690kg

The Laden Vehicle Mass of 2664kg is within the Maximum Loaded Vehicle Mass (Japanese vehicle variant with the maximum GVM=2690kg)

DOT calculator for checking seating capacity:

Maximum Seating Formula

Step 1: Calculate Load Capacity

GVM – TARE = Load Capacity

Step 2: Calculate Number of Seats
CALCULATOR

Load Capacity = Number of Seats

(68+13.5)

* 68Kg = Avg. weight per person.

* PLEASE NOTE: Calculator

*13.5Kg = Luggage weight allocated per seat. is only for estimates.

Morning

He has a month to complete repairs on your vehicle.
A fair amount of time must be given to undertake this as he has to apply to the department to be granted approval to remove the Modification Plate.
The paperwork that you provided is for your vehicle and shows that eight seats in your vehicle would make it noncompliant.
There is a calculation that the approved person must do to ensure all compliance with ADRs.

Subject: Re: 2008 Elgrand Export / Import Approvals

Hi Malcolm,

I had contact with [redacted] not relevant on January 5th, I met them down at southport transport as they said they could fix the problem, they were told the same thing I had been told about the weight of the vehicle.

I then sent a written letter on January 6th stating I had no other option then to go through fair trading, heard nothing back.

The car yard phoned [redacted] on January 31st saying it was all sorted, February 1st is when I phoned transport to find out if it had been sorted and was told the gvm had been upgraded as the car dealer had supplied the export certificate (so before then no I didn't know, so no I did not give authorisation). I was put onto Peter in vehicle standards who told me that the gvm couldn't be raised and that he was looking at the RAWS website, that is when he said to have it investigated. I only signed a change of vehicle particulars form on the day I met [redacted] NR at southport which was January 5th.

Thanks

Nerissa,

I have a change of vehicle particulars form that was lodged on 31/01/2017 to upgrade the GVM of your vehicle.

The form is signed by not relevant declaring that he was authorised to act on your behalf.

Did you give him authorisation to act on your behalf?

Kind regards,

 Subject: RE: details of 8 seater compliance as requested

Hi not relevant

Further to your email regarding the 8 seater compliance of imported Nissan Elgrand I would like to confirm the following:

The heaviest Nissan Elgrand E51 variant has the GVM (Gross Weight) of 2690kg. Attached is the Export Certificates showing the maximum Gross Weight.

Nissan Elgrand E51 models manufactured from 5/2002 to 08/2010:

Model Code	Variant	Build Date Range:	Drive	Engine cc	Gross Weight (GVM) (maximum value) kg
UA-E51	XL, X, VG, V, HIGHWAY STAR, RIDER	from 05/2002 to 08/2004	FR	3500	2690
UA-NE51	XL, X, VG, V, HIGHWAY STAR, RIDER	from 05/2002 to 08/2004	AWD	3500
CBA-E51	XL, X, VG, V, HIGHWAY STAR, RIDER	from 08/2004 to 08/2010	FR	3500
CBA-NE51	XL, X, VG, V, HIGHWAY STAR, RIDER	from 08/2004 to 08/2010	AWD	3500

Calculations:

ORIGINAL JAPANESE VEHICLE:

Make and Model: Nissan Elgrand
 Original Seating Capacity = 8
 Original Unladen Mass "Weight on the Export Certificate" = 2060kg

Fuel Tank: 76lt

Petrol fuel density: 0.74kg/lt

76lt - 10lt = 66lt of fuel

66lt x 0.74kg/lt = 48kg

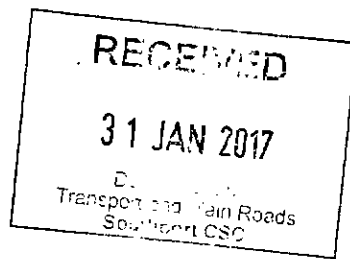

Tare Mass: 2060kg-48kg=2012kg

Maximum GVM: 2690kg

Maximum Seating Formula (as per QLD DoT):

GVM - TARE = 2690kg - 2012kg = 678kg (Load Capacity)

Number of Seats = 8 x (68kg + 13.5kg) = 8 x 81.5kg = 652kg (weight of 8 vehicle occupants + Luggage)

678kg > 652kg

LADEN VEHICLE MASS = 2012kg + (8 x 68kg) + (8 x 13.5kg) = 2012kg + 544kg + 108kg = 2664kg
GVM = 2690kg

The Laden Vehicle Mass of 2664kg is within the Maximum Loaded Vehicle Mass (Japanese vehicle variant with the maximum GVM=2690kg)

DOT calculator for checking seating capacity:

Maximum Seating Formula

Step 1: Calculate Load Capacity

GVM - TARE = Load Capacity

Step 2: Calculate Number of Seats

CALCULATOR

Load Capacity = Number of Seats
(68+13.5)

* 68Kg = Avg. weight per person.

*13.5Kg = Luggage weight allocated per seat.

* PLEASE NOTE: Calculator is only for estimates.

RE: gvm information [SEC=UNCLASSIFIED]

RI Raws Info <Raws.Info@infrastructure.gov.au> Today 11:12 AM
 You

Helli
 Cars do not have a Gross Vehicle Mass (GVM). If the car has been registered as an 8 seat vehicle with an Engineers Certificate and has the appropriate seatbelts for 8 adult positions then it can be used as an 8 seat vehicle.

The total weight of the vehicle, can also be increased on the Engineers Certificate. The lower mass listing is a temporary legal arrangement used to comply the vehicle initially and is now irrelevant.

Note. The carrying capacity of the tyres fitted should always exceed the max weight of the vehicle.

Hello,

I am writing to find out the proper GVM on an import Nissan elgrand Vin 6U900000E51262972. I bought this vehicle stated as an 8 seater but through department of transport it was only a 4 seater and I was told it could not be an 8 seater due to the weight of the vehicle. The car dealer has now upgraded the GVM at the department of transport from 2500 to 2630, which I was told they supplied the export certificate. I have a copy of this certificate which I have attached. I just want to find out if this upgraded GVM is actually correct and legal and that I can use this vehicle as an 8 seater or not. I have also been informed by vehicle modifications/standards that the GVM can only be 2500 as they went of the RAW website.

Thank You

Outline the nature of your complaint on the back of this form

Outline the nature of your complaint

The car was sold as an 8 seater. I later found out it was only a 4 seater. I was told it would never be an 8 seater due to the GVM and tare. The GVM being 2500. The car dealer has somehow had it documented with transport to now have a higher GVM of 2690. I have spoken to many people in the department and was told by vehicle standards/vehicle modifications going by the PAW website the GVM can and is only 2500. It is now recorded at Department of transport as an 8 seater with a GVM of 2690. All other documentation states the GVM is 2500.
